The Origins and Historical Context of the Diary

Understanding the diary requires a bit of background on Saint Faustina herself. Born Helena Kowalska in 1905 in Poland, she entered the Congregation of the Sisters of Our Lady of Mercy in 1925 and took the name Faustina. From a young age, she experienced visions and mystical experiences, but it was during the 1930s, amid the turmoil of pre-World War II Europe, that her spiritual mission crystallized.

Writing the Divine Mercy Messages

Between 1934 and 1938, Faustina meticulously recorded her visions, prayers, and dialogues with Jesus in her diary. These entries document not only her spiritual insights but also the instructions she received about spreading the message of Divine Mercy to the world. She was commanded to trust in God's endless mercy and to encourage others to do the same through prayer, acts of mercy, and devotion.

The diary was written in Polish, capturing the rawness and sincerity of Faustina's experiences. It was later translated into multiple languages, becoming a cornerstone of modern Catholic spirituality. The vivid descriptions of Jesus's appearances, the famous Divine Mercy image, and the Chaplet of Divine Mercy prayer all originate from this diary.

Divine Mercy: God's Boundless Compassion
